After completing course work, students enroll in ENG 699 each semester to complete their Area Exams and Prospectus, followed by ENG 800 to complete their Dissertation

Notes:

- Courses with final grades of C- or lower cannot fulfill degree requirements
- A maximum of 2 ENG 699 Directed Readings may be used in place of coursework. Students must complete a 699 request form and obtain approval from the English Graduate Director in advance.
- Graduate assistants are required to take ENG 605 in their first semester as part of their training to teach first year writing
- The 2 courses outside of the Department should be related to the student's research interests. Students who have completed a graduate degree or who have done extensive work in a field outside of English may choose either to take these 2 additional courses within English or outside of the department.
- At least 2 of these 9 courses must relate to the intended, or likely subjects of the student's dissertation. Also, at least 2 of these 9 courses (not necessarily the same as those relating to the dissertation) should bear directly upon the choice of each area examination subject. One course can serve for more than one area exam.
- PhD students planning to apply for academic positions on the MLA market are not advised to use undergraduate (400-level) classes to fulfill course requirements.
- To enroll in creative writing courses, students not in the creative track must obtain permission from the
- A maximum of 3 ENG courses may be creative writing workshops (ENG 613, 713, or 699 as a 'workshop')

Other Degree Requirements
Hawai'i/Asia/Pacific content course. Students must take – but not in addition to present credit requirements – one course with substantial Hawai'i/Asia/Pacific content, to be fulfilled at the 400-level or above, in or out of the English Department, while in residence at UH Mānoa. ENG 625 may not be used to fulfill the HAP requirement.
Second Language Requirement (must be fulfilled before advancing to the dissertation stage) Fulfilled in one of the following ways: a) Language 302 course equivalent or higher in 1 language, minimum grade of B b) Language 202 course equivalents in 2 languages, minimum grades of B c) Reading proficiency examinations are offered at the 202 and 302 levels. Exams are administered by the appropriate university department. d) Native speakers of a language other than English will be considered to have fulfilled the second language requirement.
Departmental Events. Students in coursework must attend 4 departmental events (lectures, readings, colloquia) each semester. We'll have an attendance sheet at most events, but by the end of the semester students must email a list of events attended to the Graduate Director.
